

PERSONAL ACCOUNTS FROM SURVIVORS

OF PRISON SEXUAL ASSAULTS

MS. SMITH: So it sounds like looking at the inmate grievance process is also something that we need to do as well, okay.

MR. CAHILL: Jails and prisons are totally dehumanizing, not just for the prisoners, but for the guards and the medical staff. I'd like to see of Osha investigate jails and prisons as unhealthy workplaces. The times when I needed medical help in jail -- for instance, one time I got pepper sprayed for acting out and medical health care -- correctional health care worker came up to me, can I help you, can I help you? And I said yeah, yeah, of course. Then he disappeared and I never saw him again.